Urge for Freedom Held Responsible

New York's First Policewoman Discusses Social Condition Developed There Among Small Town Girls Who Are Victims of Circumstances.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—The "1925 rge for freedom," disregard for law n the part of parents and children llie; the "Broadway lure"—these re a few of the reasons given to- ay by Mrs. Mary Hamilton, New ork's first policewoman, in ampli- ying her statement before a wo- n's club that "New York is hid- ng place for every small town scan- al from Florida to Alaska."

"These sweet, unsophisticated mall town girls come here expect- ng to fulfill their ideals of fame and mance," said Mrs. Hamilton. "They fail and then go wrong rather han go back home.

"The family back home never hears of their disgrace. And we find more than six nameless babies abandoned every day."

Asked to suggest a remedy, Mrs. Hamilton said.

"Finger print every mother and ow print every baby. Then there will be no such thing as childless mothers."

Mrs. Hamilton said she sympathized deeply with the young girl from ome of Iowa who finds herself strand- d in a big city like New York.

"Society should deal more kindly with these girls," she declared. "It is not their fault. They are victims of the pendulum of circumstances which has suddenly swung them in- to an atmosphere of freedom. And they are not prepared.

"Cases of unmarried mothers are more numerous among the girls of the ordinary, plain middle class. High school flappers and factory workers have grown with the age—they usually too wise to be caught in a mess."

11 Socialists in French Cabinet

New Cabinet Formed by Painleve Also Contains Three Former Premiers—Caillaux Says French Finances Are in Chaos.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, April 17.—There are eleven radical Socialists in the new cabinet presented today to President Doumergue by Paul Painleve, president of the Chamber of Deputies. In addition there are three former premiers and five former ministers. The new ministers will present themselves to the Chamber of Deputies Tuesday.

The make up of the cabinet follows:

Premier and war minister—Paul Painleve.

Minister of Finance—Joseph Caillaux.

Foreign Affairs—Aristide Briand.

Interior—Abraham Schrameck.

Marine—Emile Borel.

Public instruction and beaux arts —Anatole De Monzie.

Commerce—Charles Chaumet.

Agriculture—Jean Durand.

Labor—Antoine Durafour.

Public works—Pierre Laval.

Pensions—Louis Anteriou.

A cabinet communique issued by Painleve read:

"The cabinet meets in the Chamber of the president's palace at 9:30 o'clock Saturday to discuss terms of the ministerial message. They will present themselves to the Chamber of Deputies Tuesday. No member of the present government will participate in the political manifestation for the municipal elections May 3."

The crisis in French finances was emphasized by Caillaux when he said to International News Service after the cabinet meeting:

"When I took the finance ministry for the second time in 1906, Premier Poincare said to me, 'You won't recognize the finance ministry, it is so changed.'

As a matter of fact conditions then were bad enough but after a fortnight I had everything in order. This time, however, I have never seen the nation's finances in such deplorable condition. I cannot understand how they have been able to reduce their finances to such chaos. The situation necessitates drastic measures."

Spanish War Veterans' Reunion

First New York Regiment to Gather at Middletown May 2 and 3 to Answer Roll Call and Fight Famous Bloodless Battles Again.

Local Spanish War Veterans have received notice that there will be a reunion of the old First Regiment, New York Volunteers, of which old Company M was a unit, on May 2 and 3, at Middletown, N. Y. Adjutant H. Goldsworthy in the notices sent out embodies the following reminders:

At the last reunion at Albany, thirty-five (35), Gold Brickers answered "Attention to roll call." (exclusive of guests, waiters and house detectives). If you weren't there your ears must have tingled plenty for the memories of those old happy-go-lucky days were hashed over.

The battle of "Sans Souci" was fought and won again after a severe struggle and several minor casualties.

There was music, dominoes, pasteboards, and lots of horrible harmony, and when the party was over, every one steamed out under his own power.

The committee in charge at Middletown are sparing no expense to provide for the comrades and expect to make this the largest and most interesting reunion yet held by the First.

The trip will be made from Kingston by automobiles, leaving the armory at 8 a. m., Saturday, May 2, 1925.

Kindly notify the adjutant, H. Goldsworthy, 25 Second avenue, Kingston, N. Y., as soon as possible if you are going so that accommodations can be arranged for.

ESCAPED PRISONERS CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Brockton, Mass., April 17.—Following a wild chase through the woods, during which several shots were fired, Elliot W. Harriman, of this city and Joseph W. Ruddick, of Kittery, Maine, two of four prisoners who escaped from the Rockingham County jail, Portsmouth, N. H., after beating Turnkey Arthur Gordon, were captured by the police here today.

Bomb Cathedral During Funeral

Famous Bulgarian Cathedral Scene of Communist Outrage, Resulting in 30 to 100 Deaths and 200 Wounded.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Sofia, April 17.—Military rule was established today in Bulgaria as a result of the communist bomb outrage at the Sveti Kral cathedral. A number of arrests were made in the effort to round up the radicals responsible for the deaths of from 30 to 100 persons and the wounding of at least 200 others.

General Davidoff, General Nersoff, Former Ambassador Kolougheff today were identified as victims of the bombing, timed to take its toll of lives during the funeral services for General Kosla Gheorghieff, victim of an assassin Tuesday.

The wounded included Premier Tsankoff, War Minister Kaloff the mayor of Sofia, Archbishop Stephan and General Lazaroff, commandant of the city garrison.

The infernal machine exploded just as the funeral procession reached the main doors of the cathedral. The building was almost completely ruined.

The ruins of the picturesque old cathedral were the scene of wildest confusion today, as relatives and friends of the missing unidentified searched the wreckage for the victims. The dead and wounded, the accurate number of which remained undetermined, were still lying in the open square in front of the cathedral and in the aisles of the old edifice.

Rioting and pillaging were checked by large numbers of troops.

A government statement today said that the assassin of Professor Nicola Milieff, who was slain last February, had been found dead on the spot where he had killed Milieff. He left a note, the statement said, saying the executions were ordered by the Macedonians, whose chief Milieff was.

The cathedral has become a morgue. It was estimated that the greater part of the dead and wounded, mostly women and children, were still buried in the wreckage.

Panic broke out following the bomb explosion. The laments of the mourners, gathered in and around the cathedral during the funeral services for General Gheorghieff, broke into shrieks of fear as the whole front of the cathedral fell in to the huddled crowd, carrying portions of the roof and side walls.

The government fears that public opinion will call for violent reprisals against the communists and agrarians. Martial law is being strictly enforced and all groups broken up.

Rat Population Of City 27,000

H. T. Pitts, Rat Exterminator, Estimates That Number of Rodents in Kingston—Has Crew of Three Men at Work Reducing the Population.

Kingston's rat population is approximately 27,000, according to H. T. Pitts of Buffalo, who has a crew of three men busy in the city at the present time depopulating the city. Each rat will eat about half a cent's worth of food a day and it costs the city to maintain its rats at the rate of $1.82 per rat per year, or approximately $50,000 a year to feed the rodent population.

Mr. Pitts says that his figures are based on estimates made by the government which has found that in inland cities like Kingston it is estimated there is one rat to every individual.

In the United States, rats and mice each year destroy $200,000,000 which is equal to the gross earnings of 200,000 men. The common brown rat breeds six to ten times a year and produces an average of ten young at a litter. Young females breed when only three or four months old. At that rate a pair of rats breeding uninterruptedly and without death would at the end of the three years (18 generation) be increased to 359,709,482, rather a staggering number of descendants.

Mr. Pitts is using a method of ridding the city of rats that has the approval of the government. He places barium carbonate on three different kinds of food so that the rat can take his choice when he decides it is time to eat. Mr. Pitts advises that dogs and cats be kept away from the poison.

In addition to ridding houses and industrial concerns of the rat nuisance, Mr. Pitts gives instructions on how to keep down the population. He advises keeping the cellar clean, the doors and windows leading to the cellar closed and to keep the top fastened on the garbage can. In damp cellars he advises the sprinkling of lime.

Mr. Pitts has been in the rat exterminating business for a number of years and has visited between three and four hundred cities in the United States.

Steamers Damaged in Collision.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Portland, Ore., April 17.—The steamer Charles R. McCormick of the McCormick Steamship Company and the Japanese steamer Yoshida Maru collided early today in the lower bay near Astoria, Ore., according to a radio message. Bows of both vessels were badly damaged. Each was forced to return to Astoria, reports said.

Holds Parking Law Is Legal

Judge Schirick Decides That Public Works Board Has Power to Adopt Traffic Ordinances—President Bogart, of Auto Club, Fined $3.

President Elva H. Bogart, of the Automobile Club of Ulster county, after a trial before Judge Harry E. Schirick in police court today was found guilty of parking in a restricted area on Fair street and was fined $3. Last week when the case was taken up for trial, County Attorney John W. Eckert, who represented Mr. Bogart, raised the question as to the legality of the parking ordinance, claiming that the board of public works had not the power to draft and enforce such an ordinance; that the power rested in the common council.

Judge Schirick this morning ruled that the public works board did have the power to enact traffic ordinances and denied Attorney Eckert's motion to dismiss the charge.

The only testimony taken was that for The People. Mr. Bogart did not take the stand in his own behalf.

$200,000 Fire At Millerton

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Sharon, Conn., April 17.—Connecticut and New York firemen joined forces early today to save the village of Millerton, Dutchess county, New York, from complete destruction from a fire of unknown origin that wiped out one-third of the business section of the town, doing damage estimated at nearly $200,000 and destroying the post office and telephone exchange. Miss Fannie Miller, lone telephone operator, stuck at her post until driven out by the flames after she had summoned aid from Canaan, Lakeville and Sharon, Conn., and Amenia, N. Y.

Kingston Medical Academy Officers

Dr. John G. O'Leary Is Elected President of Kingston Academy of Medicine—Organization Proving a Great Success.

The Kingston Academy of Medicine which was organized a year ago, held its annual meeting Thursday evening in its new headquarters in the city hall.

A review of the year's work showed that with a membership of forty, the regular monthly meetings averaged an attendance of over twenty-five. Considering that a goodly number of members live out of town, and taking into consideration the weather conditions in the winter and the uncertainty of a doctor's plans, this attendance testifies to the remarkable success of an organization still in its infancy.

The speakers secured during the past year have been men of reputation, acknowledged authorities of the subjects which they presented, and the opportunity of hearing them has been recognized and appreciated by the doctors of Ulster county, who comprise the membership of the Academy.

Dr. MacKenzie of New York was the speaker at the meeting Thursday night, and was attentively followed by the audience, a number of the graduate nurses of the city having also accepted the invitation to be present.

The business meeting followed the address, the retiring president, Dr. Chandler, was in the chair. Election of officers resulted in the following:

President, Dr. John G. O'Leary; vice-president, Dr. A. A. Stern; secretary, Dr. John F. Larkin; treasurer, Dr. Frank A. Johnston.

Board of Directors: Dr. George F. Chandler, term of three years; Dr. Mark O'Meara, term of two years; Dr. E. E. Norwood, term of one year.

MURIEL VANDERBILT WILL WED IN JULY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—Miss Muriel Vanderbilt, one of the richest young women in the United States, will be married in July to Frederick Cameron Church of Boston at the Vanderbilt home in Newport, it was announced today when reports of the engagement were confirmed.

Miss Vanderbilt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, great granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt and a granddaughter of the late Senator Fair of California.

Church is 27 years old. His family is a prominent but not a wealthy one, of Lowell, Massachusetts.

Science Finds Way To Prolong Life

Process of Starvation Definitely Prolongs Lower Forms of Life, But Complexity of Human Body Halts Application of Discovery to Man.

Copyright, 1925, by International News Service.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17.—The fabled fountain of youth, sought since time immemorial by man in his quest for eternal physical youth, may be found at last.

It was revealed today by Dr. A. C. Baker, entomologist of the department of agriculture, that science, by a process of starvation, has been able to definitely prolong lower forms of life. But man must wait for added knowledge before the discovery can be applied to his own body.

The experiments have been carried on coincidentally by famous scienists throughout the world, notably Professor C. M. Child, Zoologist of the University of California and J. S. Huxley, grandson of the famed biologist.

"Mature flat worms have been starved into physical infancy and then fed back to maturity. The experiment was continued no less than eighteen times by Professor Child, who then stopped the work, convinced that his point had been proven," said Dr. Baker.

"This means that one form of life has been artificially made to outlive eighteen generations of its kind."

The extreme complexity of the human body halts an application of Child's discovery to man, according to Dr. Baker.

Huxley experimented with shell shocked soldiers and cities one case where the patient relapsed into mental childhood, requiring infant food and a nurse's care and was obliged to re-acquire all of his former intelligence.

"This has led Huxley to believe that there may be some connection between the discovery of how to prolong life of lower creatures and its possible application to man at some later date when science has further progressed," Baker said.

WAR VETERANS PROTEST AGAINST CAILLAUX

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, April 17.—Police today ordered extra precautions be taken to prevent clashes tomorrow when war veterans will hold a mass meeting at 6 o'clock in the evening and march to the grave of the unknown soldier at the Arc De Triomphe as a protest against the appointment of Joseph Caillaux to the cabinet.

Caillaux was convicted of treason during the war on charge of having friendly relations with the enemy.

CROOKED HOOCH SLEUTHS SENT TO PENITENTIARY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 17.—Detectives James Hays and Fred Bullerick convicted by a jury of conspiring to violate the federal prohibition law, were each sentenced to serve 18 months in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta and fined $2,000 Friday by United States District Judge Smith Hickenlooper. Detective Robert Kinney was sentenced to a year and a day at Fort Leavenworth and fined $1,000.

RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ELECTS TRUSTEES

At the annual meeting of the congregation of the Rondout Presbyterian Church held in the chapel Thursday evening, Alva S. Staples, William I. Hutton and Frank D. Dewey were elected trustees to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of John F. Rowland, Louis Beeres and Clarence S. Rowland. The church also went on record as approving the pension plan for disabled ministers of the Presbyterian Church.

Auto Secretaries In Conference

1925 Motoring Problems Will be Studied at Convention of the Secretaries of A. A. A. Clubs and Branches.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—From the national headquarters of the American Automobile Association came the announcement today of one of the most important organization activities of the 1925 season, namely, the large convention of Three A. club secretaries to be held in Washington April 30-May 1.

The call for the convention, which is in the nature of a school and conference for motor club secretaries, has already gone out to all the clubs and branches flying the A. A. A. emblem. From the responses to the invitation already received, it is expected that 350 to 400 secretaries will attend the convention and that every section of the country will be represented at the gathering.

This is the first secretaries' conference since the amalgamation of the National Motorists' Association with the American Automobile Association. In the period that has elapsed the A. A. A. membership has reached approximately 600,000, while its clubs and branches now number 647. At the same time not only has the work of the A. A. A. and its clubs increased in volume but the activities of the organization have been extended into many new fields.

One of the outstanding features on the agenda of the convention is the fomulation of a touring program for 1925. In view of the tremendous increase of long-distance touring and the fact that Three A. secretaries route 2,000,000 tourists a year, this feature is regarded as one of the most vital from the viewpoint of automobile owners and also from the standpoint of the service of the national organization.

Another important subject that will be taken up is the question of street and highway safety. The A. A. A. in pursuance of its own policy and also as an organization member of the Hoover conference has been active in safety work. All the clubs were mobilized under the secretaries into a going safety machine and several effective measures have been installed. During the discussion of this feature of the program, the convention will be turned into a clearing house of safety information.

Cost of Living Up 7½ Per Cent

Wholesale Food Prices Greater Than Year Ago—Total Earnings Show 1.8 Per Cent Increase—Decrease in Employment in Some Industries

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17.—The cost of living continues to climb, wholesale prices of foodstuffs being 7½ per cent higher in March than they were a year ago, the department of labor announced today.

While some commodities averaged lower in price in March than in February, the general average was slightly higher.

Principal advances were noted in fresh foods such as meat, butter, fruits, which were offset in party by slight declines in eggs, flour, etc. The net increase for the group was 1¼ per cent.

Jobs also were plentiful, the department of labor announced, while employment in manufacturing industries increased one per cent in March over February, it was four per cent lower than March a year ago.

Based on reports from 9,000 establishments in 52 industries covering 2,568,019 employes whose total earnings during one week in March were $75,422,103, the aggregate earnings of employes increased 1.8 per cent while the per capita earnings increased 0.9 per cent.

The fertilizer industry showed the largest employment gain, amounting to 49 per cent. The brick industry increased nine per cent in employment while the automobile and carriage industry showed employment increases of 7.2 per cent each.

There was marked decrease in employment in the chewing and smoking tobacco industries, slaughtering and meat packing, flour, confectionery, woolen goods and rubber boots and shoes.

COURTS CANNOT QUESTION ACTS OF CONGRESS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17.—Asserting the courts have no right to question acts of Congress, the United States shipping board has requested dismissal of the Pacific Mail Company's plea for an injunction to halt sale of five passenger liners to the Dollar interests.

The board, in its answer filed with the district supreme court this afternoon, declared it was complying with a mandate of congress in accepting the $5,625,000 dollar offer for the ships which are now operated out of San Francisco.

Operation Upon Ruth Successful

Baseball's Greatest Attraction Underwent Successful Operation Today For Intestinal Abscesses—May Be Out of Game For a Month.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—Babe Ruth, baseball's most noted character, underwent a successful operation today for intestinal abscesses, it was stated in an official report issued at St. Vincent's hospital, where the great hitter has been confined for the last ten days.

Ruth was resting easily, following the operation and his condition was entirely satisfactory, it was announced.

The operation was performed by Dr. George D. Stewart, of the hospital staff, assisted by Dr. Edward King, the ball club physician.

After the operation, Mrs. Ruth and their daughter, Dorothy, visited the patient in his room. Ruth was on the operating table for upward of 20 minutes and a general anaesthetic was administered, the hospital authorities stated. They added that he had a fairly restful night but that his fever, which has ranged around 101 had not abated

When he was taken back to his room, Ruth looked well, everything considered, and was able to chat with his wife and daughter.

Inquisitive persons, however, are asking why it is that everyone has been denied admittance to the sick room with the exception of Mrs. Ruth, baby Dorothy and Ed Barrow, business manager of the club. Even Colonel Ruppert and Ruth's close friends on the ball club have been barred on recent visits. This, it is contended, is not compatible with the physicians' announcement that they "fell no concern over Ruth's condition." Usually a patient is not segregated unless there is some alarm felt over his symptoms, and the belief has grown during the last 12 hours that the physicians, for reasons best known to themselves, have not seen fit to reveal the whole truth.

Ruth will now be lost to the team for at least a month, a fact with which officials of the Yankees were not familiar as late as 24 hours ago. They said then that the slugger was on the mend and hoped to have him with the team when it goes on the road next Tuesday, their optimism being fostered by announcements from the sick room that Ruth had almost recovered from his combined attack of influenza and indigestion.

It was not mentioned in the official bulletins that Ruth's temperature had not reacted to treatment and continued to range around 101 and above. The physicians declared that the abscesses are responsible for this.

But even if this is the noted patient's only trouble, he faces a lengthy vigil in bed because of the painful nature of the operation. Ten days or two weeks have been set as the probable interval before he will be released from the hospital, but many believe it will be longer than that. If Ruth plays with the Yankees by May 15 he will be doing very well, according to medical men.

Miller Huggins almost went to the hospital himself when told Ruth would not report to the team next week, as expected.

"That is a tough piece of news for us," he said after being dragged away from the scene. "We all felt certain the big boy would be back to help us out within a week. Now, the best thing to do is forget about it as quickly as possible. The Yanks will have to fight that much harder, that's all."

Tapped on Head Robbed of $300

Louis Heitzbery of No. 19 High street, Newburgh, was brought to the Kingston City Hospital Thursday evening about 11:30 o'clock to receive treatment for scalp wounds. After having his wounds attended to Mr. Heitzbery left for his home.

According to the story he told the State Troopers, he was busy cranking his car near the Monastery of the Order of the Holy Cross, West Park, when some one stole up on him and tapped him on the head, knocking him unconscious. While he lay on the ground the thief or thieves went through his pockets and helped themselves to $300 he had on his person.

The State Troopers are working on the case.

GENERAL HEALTH IS IMPROVING

Some Diseases, However, Show an Increase, According to Survey.

Washington.—The general health of the country as a whole has been steadily improving for more than a decade. Although the death rate has increased in this period in a few diseases, there is a marked decline in most of the list. In very few instances has the mortality rate remained stationary. The death rate from all causes has declined almost 10 per cent in ten years.

Ten years ago the death rate from all causes was about 1,500 per 100,000 population. Each year thereafter marked a steady decline until 1918, the influenza year, when the rate jumped above 1,800. The rate quickly returned to normal and is today about 1,100. The steady decline in the past few years is believed by some to be enhanced by prohibition. Contrary to the general impression, the number of deaths from violence, including suicides, shows a similar decrease.

Striking Contrast.

The most striking contrast is found in the death rate for typhoid fever. Twelve years ago the death rate from this disease was about 24 per 100,000, while today it is less than 7, a drop to less than one-third the earlier figure. The improvement in the rate for tuberculosis, while less marked, is very significant. Its rate has declined steadily from about 140 to less than 100 in a little more than a decade. At the present rate of improvement the danger from the disease will soon be less than that from several other causes.

In the case of half a dozen common diseases the death rate has been reduced to one-half or one-third the rate of ten years ago. Deaths from rheumatism are but one half as numerous as a decade ago. The danger from scarlet fever is about one-third what it was ten years ago, and a similar improvement has occurred in regard to bronchitis, measles, diphtheria, meningitis and liver complaints.

A contrast is found in the case of malaria, which has become slowly but steadily more dangerous in this period, until its death rate has almost doubled. The same is true of smallpox, which also has almost doubled its death rate. Diseases of the brain have become more deadly. There has also been a steady increase in the death rate from heart disease. The rate for organic diseases of the heart is at present nearly 170 per 100,000, while that of tuberculosis is less than 100. The death rate from pneumonia, which ranks next to heart disease, is about 150.

Influenza's Toll.

The jump in the death rate of influenza and its violent fluctuations is one of the curiosities of these statistics. Ten years ago the rate from this cause was very small, or only about 10 per 100,000. In 1918, the war year, the death rate from this disease was 300. The following year it dropped to 98 and three years later rose to 133. The death rate from cancer has also increased.

Ten years ago the rate of violent deaths was about 90 per 100,000, while today it is about 70. There has been a marked decline in suicides. The rate was 16 per 100,000 a decade ago, while today it is a little over 10.

Ancient Jap Romance Contains 500,000 Words

London.—The first volume of an ancient Japanese novel, written by a woman named Murasaski in A. D. 1004, has just been translated by Arthur Waley of the British museum. The novel consists of 500,000 words, and is said to be the earliest long novel in any language. It has 800 characters, and the story tells of the love affairs of Genji, a son of the emperor.

Mr. Waley commenced the first volume last March, and hopes to finish translating a volume a year for the next five years, when the work will be complete.

London Girl, Too Young to Vote, Wins Election

London.—Women who are too young to vote are not too young to run for office as members of the London county council, the legislative body that makes the laws for the metropolis. One such is Miss Thelma Cazalet, who was elected to the council the other day. She is only twenty-five years old, and under the prevailing laws she will not be able to vote until she is thirty. If women could vote at twenty-one years of age in England they would far outnumber the male electors.

Never Has Been Late or Absent for 50 Years

Warrington, England.—Thomas Corcoran, an employee in a soap works here, believes in punctuality and devotion to duty.

During his fifty years' employment at the works he has not lost a single minute of time. The reason he gave for never being late was that he always went to bed early, and had a good night's rest.

Ensemble in Lead as Spring Outfit

Tailored Coats Have Plain, Unbroken Back Line—Plaits Featured.

It hardly seems right to talk about suits this spring. Even tailored suits of men's wear material are made up of coats and frocks. They are more than suits. They are ensembles, in several styles, two-piece or three-piece, the outer garment being generally a coat, but sometimes a cape.

A New York correspondent of the Canadian Drygoodsman says: Almost without exception, coats of the ensembles are long. By long I mean down to the hem of the dress, three-quarter length or anywhere in between. The few short coats are hip length, boxy affairs. I have seen little tailored kasha coats of this variety in black, navy, rose or some other high shade sold with white kasha skirts or frocks for sports. Occasionally there is a young girl's tailored suit of tweed or men's wear woolen with a short coat.

All long coats have one feature in common, the backs are straight and close to the figure. In the great majority of cases it is a plain unbroken back line. However, there is one exception, the tailored notch collar coat with a belt just across the back like a man's overcoat. Coats of this description are made up in suits and separately.

These suits of strictly tailored materials have straight unbelted frocks of the same goods. They are cut short and scant. Step room is given by a sort of wrap-around arrangement, the back underlapping the front from side seam to center front, or there are plaits. Plaits are one of the outstanding features of spring styles. Tailored sleeves have a single inverted plait at the center front running up to the length of a low waistline and ending in an arrowhead, a group of narrow plaits hanging free from low waistline depth or wider plaits stitched to within ten inches of the bottom of the skirt, or the plaits are at the side. In the latter case, side plaits, inverted plaits or box plaits are stitched to within ten inches of the bottom.

His Action

"Great guns, Gap! You look like you'd been run over by a herd of wild cattle!" ejaculated an acquaintance. "What in torment is the matter?"

"Well, I'll tell you," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, who appeared to have recently been roughly handled. "My team ran away down hill as I was driving to town yisterd'y. Just as we got over the top of the rise the neckyoke broke and let the waggin run onto the hosses, and away they went like the devil before daylight. Seeing that there wasn't anything special to stay in the waggin for, I got out on my head and rolled along down hill after 'em."—Kansas City Star.

Niagara Falls

The water that flows over Niagara has flowed from the four great lakes and the hundreds of rivers that flow into them, more than one-half the fresh water of the world, according to one authority. The fact that evaporation and precipitation in the form of rain and snow are continually going on in the enormous area of the great lakes basin renders it unlikely that the Great Lakes will ever be drained in this manner.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, April 17.—The Ladies' Aid of the Reformed Church met at the home of Mrs. Minnie Snyder at Accord on Thursday last. There was a very good attendance and a pleasant afternoon was spent. Refreshments and delicious refreshments at the close of the business session were much enjoyed.

The members of the Home Bureau will hold a domino party at All Saints' Parish House on Wednesday afternoon, April 22, to which the public is cordially invited.

James Brown moved to his new place of business on upper Main street on Wednesday, where he will be pleased to see all of his old customers.

Arthur Moore has been suffering with an attack of lumbago the past week.

Miss Dolores Hayden, who spent Easter with her mother, returned to New Jersey on Tuesday, where she teaches school.

The Easter program that was given at the Dutch Church on Sunday morning was well rendered by the members of the Sunday school and a few of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Latcher of Yonkers were guests of Mrs. Latcher's brother, Silas Auchmoody, and family at Lawrenceville the past week.

Samuel Gerding and Alonzo Campfield, who are employed at Cragsmoor, spent the week end at their homes in this village.

The Firemen will hold a dance at the Hilton on Tuesday evening, April 21. It is hoped there will be a good attendance as the firemen are worthy of the public patronage.

FORTY YEARS FOR FOOL TALK

Much astonishment has been caused by the court-martial sentences imposed on two private soldiers of the American army in Honolulu—twenty-six years at hard labor for one and forty years at hard labor for the other. They were convicted of speaking contemptuously of the President and the flag, of talking Bolshevism, and of attempting to organize a branch of the Third International or Communist party in violation of the territorial law of Hawaii against secret societies. That they actually started or led anything suggesting a revolution or insurrection was not shown. That they did indulge in much loose and foolish talk, the sort of talk too often to be expected of discontended, wrong-headed and embittered young men, has been made clear.

In time of war no doubt they would constitute a danger calling for prompt and stern measures. Even in time of peace they merit punishment followed by dishonorable discharge. But the appalling severity imposed on them by court-martial has, not without reason, been likened to such "cruel and unusual punishment" as the Constitution forbids. It may be taken for granted that such terrible punishment will never be fully imposed. Court-martial sentences are not final, they are likely to be reviewed, and may go up all the way to the President. That these heavy sentences will be reduced, as they ought to be, seems practically certain. Such extreme severity on the part of the indignant officers of the court-martial can hardly be indorsed by the War Department and certainly will not be generally approved.

TEACHING MORALS

After a year of investigation a committee of the New York Board of Education reports that, although the young people in the high schools are "warm-hearted, generous-minded, surprisingly free from prejudice and remarkably loyal to an ideal," a "large percentage" of them "have adopted the code of the street because they have never learned a higher code of morals"—and further: "They lack respect for parents and for authority. To copy homework is entirely honorable if they are not caught. Forging a signature is a simple way of saving a lot of trouble. 'Cutting' is to be commended if they can 'get by.' Thieving is a matter of almost daily occurrence. Cheating is no disgrace if the offender is not detected."

The conclusion, in general, is that ethics as a vital force has but a feeble hold upon the rising generation, and that something ought to be done. The committee recommends what it calls "character education" for the schools, and would go as far as the inclusion of character with scholarship in the wording of diplomas. The obvious difficulty is that character education demands instruction in morals, and the latter inevitably involves a certain amount of religious training, which was abandoned in schools partly because of parental objection originating in the clash of sects and partly because of the supposed danger of interfering with religious freedom. Nevertheless there are certain generally accepted moral standards which are taught to the young, ought not to offend anyone and the need of such teaching in the schools is increasingly manifest.

Statistics obtained from his class in social ethics have brought a Harvard professor to the conclusion that 35 per cent of the students are total abstainers, that 60 per cent are moderate drinkers and five per cent heavy drinkers. The report rather curiously adds that "there is no absolute totality even among the total abstainers. As to their sources of supply in these days of supposed scarcity no information is furnished."

The little town of Bowers in Berks county, Pa., is up in arms because the Congressman of that district, for purely personal reasons, is trying to change its name to Sally Ann Furnace, after a long-abandoned blast furnace in that vicinity. The memorial head of Avon quite naturally objects to [illegible] but naturally it is difficult to persuade the small group of Pennsylvanians that Sally Ann Furnace would sound as well or be quite as in keeping with their dignity as Bowers, although there may not be a great deal to be said in favor of but either. It seems quite sufficiently obvious that the people of any town little or big would be inclined to draw the line at such a name as Sally Ann Furnace.

ABOUT LOW BLOOD PRESSURE

Some time ago I wrote about the importance of low blood pressure, because everybody seems to be stressing the matter of high blood pressure.

However, if you were to talk to your family doctor, he would tell you that in treating any ordinary case of illness, he would rather have the blood pressure above than below normal.

Although there are a number of things that may affect blood pressure our research men are now of the opinion that the nervous system is the big factor. The resistance to the blood in the vessels is what makes blood pressure. If the tiny muscles in these walls do not get real strong impulses from the brain, they do not contract or work hard enough to keep the walls real tight, and so the blood can flow under less pressure. This applies even more to the very small vessels which connect the arteries with the veins.

If the muscles in the walls of these little vessels are relaxed or slack, because the nervous system is not sending impulses strong enough to contract them, then too much blood gets into these connecting vessels, and is lost to the circulation. Hence the low blood pressure.

Your family doctor will thus tell you that he finds low blood pressure in people below par. It may be due to overwork or overplay. This is often called nervous exhaustion.

So low blood pressure is not an ailment of itself but just a symptom, which calls attention to the general condition of the body.

Of course the loss of a great amount of blood would mean low blood pressure because there will be that much less blood in the vessels.

What should be done about low blood pressure?

The treatment is obvious. As low pressure is just a sign of general weakness of lowered nerve tone the building up of the body as a whole is the first thought.

Your doctor may decide to give tonics, stimulate your appetite, increase your hours of sleep, and so forth.

Sometimes a change of scene or occupation will stimulate activity of body and thus of mind, and the whole nerve and muscle tone of the body is increased sufficiently to raise the blood pressure to normal. High blood pressure may mean danger, but low blood pressure is a poor defensive weapon when an ailment does strike you.

LEGION TO RAISE LARGE ENDOWMENT FUND

A thousand American Legion Posts of New York state, working under the Honorary Chairmanship of Governor Alfred E. Smith, will begin mobilising their forces this week in the largest task the Legion has yet attempted since the war.

The task is stated in the American Legion report made the first of this year. "There are 5,000 children today in the United States, orphans of men killed in the World War, who need immediate help to secure for them decent homes, proper education and a fair chance in life."

In addition, the report states that every day at least fifteen disabled ex-service men die in hospitals of this country, leaving wives and children who, in many cases need assistance.

To meet this problem the American Legion will raise an Endowment Fund of $5,000,000, of which the income will guarantee perpetual child welfare work and rehabilitation of disabled men. Several states have already raised their quota, and New York expects to join this list within a few weeks.

100 YEARS OLD, WILL CROSS OCEAN ALONE.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Belfast, April 17.—The Atlantic ocean has no terrors for Mrs. Annie Latourney, although she has reached the age of 95.

Within a short time Mrs. Latourney will set out for Boston, Mass., to rejoin her family, making her first voyage across the Atlantic.

Although at a most unusually advanced age, Mrs. Latourney is still active and in possession of all her faculties. She is elated at the prospect of rejoining her sons and daughters.

During the fighting at Pelisse some months ago Mrs. Latourney's home was within the line of fire, but she refused to leave her own hearth, despite the fact that the doors and windows were riddled with bullets.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

The residence of James McKee at Lawrenceville was destroyed by fire.

WHY

Winter Is Welcomed in the Arctic Circle

On the Arctic circle, winter is a season of awakening and its coming is as welcome as that of spring.

The land is largely swamp over which hover clouds of mosquitoes so dense that the often look like black smoke. They render life a burden. Smoke "smudges" have to be burned at your door or any where out-of doors where your work necessitates keeping pretty still for a time. You eat your luncheon in a stream of smoke from the little fire to windward specially lit for the purpose.

Only in sunshine and a strong breeze are you ever able to move without your attendant swarm. Everyone but the natives with the toughest skin wears a bag of muslin over the head and neck. But when winter comes the plague of mosquitoes goes.

Over most of the northland travel is practically impossible in summer. There are no roads of course, and the few narrow forest trails are boggy or blocked by fallen trees brought down by the winter storms. Swampy wastes of tundra separate one settlement from another. Navigation along the Arctic coast is a hazardous proceeding, and there is scant room for much beside yourself in the small skin canoes that constitute almost the only vessels available.

But welcome winter turns the earth from soup to iron and lays over it a soft clean carpet. Reindeer and dog sledge takes you skimming merrily up frozen rivers where, canoeing in summer, you had to fight your way inch by inch against the strong current.

Why Brevity Is Great Part of Salesmanship

Many a public speaker or private salesman who begs for just five minutes in which to present his case takes more than the time allotted. That is why true brevity is so greatly appreciated when it appears.

A famous Canadian who was among the first to see the need for the Welland canal and who took a leading part in raising money for the project, went to London to enlist interest and influence of the London Times. But the editor was always "too busy just now" to hear his plan. Finally he gained an audience by promising to put the whole case for the canal in five minutes. He did better. This is the way he did it:

He spread out on the desk a pocket map and said. "Here is Lake Erie, here are the Falls of Niagara, this is Lake Ontario, the St. Lawrence and the Atlantic, and here is the route of the great Welland canal." Then he folded the map and ended the interview.

From that moment the powerful Times was on the side of the Welland project. That is a story that might well be given an important position in any text on salesmanship or forceful speaking. It even has its application in communication on less important matters between private individuals.—Tacoma News-Tribune.

Why Moses Had "Horns"

No doubt those who have seen any of the early statues of Moses have wondered how he came to have short horns protruding from each side of his forehead. This error was recently explained by Lorado Taft, noted sculptor. The horns, he says, were due to the improper translation of the word "glory" by sculptors of the early periods. The Hebrew word for glory also meant "horn," and in translating it into Greek the word horn was used instead of glory. Thus in the great statue of Moses by Michelangelo, the former is equipped with horns. The original of the horned statue, says Taft, was of heroic size, in marble and was designed for the tomb of Julius II. But the tomb was never finished and the statue is now in the church of San Pietro, in Vincola, Rome.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Why Some Couples Agree

Newly married couples always decide to be tenderly considerate one to another, but as their rival unselfishness immediately begins to create friction, the husband, with his usual courtesy and foresight, very soon withdraws from the contest and gracefully leaves his wife to a monopoly of unselfish devotion. That is why so many couples get on splendidly together, and it is a fine tribute to the tact and good management, not to mention foresight, of the husband. The process is usually called give and take.—From "More Man," by Honor Bright.

Why Called Miniatures

Miniatures were originally the small pictures with which manuscripts were illuminated in the Middle Ages. They received the name, not on account of the minute size, but because they were colored with minimum (Latin, red lead), whence was derived the Italian word miniature. After the invention of printing and engraving, this art entered on a new phase, and the word miniature came to mean, in popular parlance, simply "a very small portrait."—Kansas City Star.

Why Plaster of Paris

Why the quick-setting plaster of paris carries the Paris designation is due to the fact that the great beds of it were discovered in the vicinity of Paris, where it was first extensively used as a cement. In the new state great heat is used to drive out moisture and the compounded then combines readily with water, quickly passing into a hard state.

PITTSBURGH, ETC.

French forces from Canada reached the site of Pittsburgh, Pa., on this date 1754, and after driving off a force of Virginians, took possession of the uncompleted fort, calling it Fort Duquesne. Benjamin Franklin died in Philadelphia in 1790. The first newspaper in Georgia issued at Savannah in 1763. The Toledo Blade first issued in 1848.

DRUSILLA LIVIA.

Was the daughter of Germanicus and Agrippina, heroine for her inconstancy. She openly married her brother, Caligula, who was so on that date, supplied food and other comforts attached to her, that in a refreshment to the workmen engaged in the task, the list including the following: "44 lbs. of beef, 4 gammons, 2 pecks of potatoes, 300 loaves, 28 loaves of bread of Lacey ye Baker, 2 gallons of rum, of John Jones, and mustard, pepper, salt, butter, a cheese, cooking and wood, earthenware and candles. "Also a barrel of Beer of Anthony Morris." This formidable list cost the Province a total of three pounds, 13 shillings, ten pence or about $27.75. Later the Bell was recast from the same metal but with slightly different combinations to obtain a better tone.

The bell itself cost a little over $300.

Celebration the BattleofLexington

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Lexington, Mass., April 17.—In this town 150 years ago the stage was being set for the opening of that great revolutionary drama which was not to close until the American colonies were free.

Today decorators were at work not only here but in every Middlesex city and town putting up bunting and flags and constructing reviewing stands for the gala celebration of Sunday and Monday.

Thousands are expected to come here to take part in the 150th celebration of the battle of Lexington. Concord and other Middlesex cities and towns will also play roles in the observance.

Many notables will be on hand. Vice-President Charles G. Dawes was enroute here today. He is a descendant of William Dawes Jr., who rode as did Paul Revere, warning the people of the countryside to "be up and to arms." General John J. Pershing, Congressman Andrew Jackson Montague of Virginia, Governor Alvan T. Fuller and a score or more of governors or their representatives have signified their intention to be on hand.

The celebration will open Sunday with special church services, a band concert and literary exercises.

Monday is the big day. While men impersonating Paul Revere and William Dawes Jr., are riding from Boston, playing the leading roles in celebrations in the cities through which they pass, the great bell in the old tower on Beltry Hill here will be ringing out a historic alarm, just as it did 150 years ago.

Reproduction of the battle at Concord Bridge, where the "shot was fired that was heard around the world" a parade of 6,500 military men here and another parade in Concord, to be followed by speechmaking are to be the high lights in the celebration.

Brooklyn Fires Rout 1,000 People

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—Two fires in Brooklyn routed 1,000 persons from their homes early today.

Six hundred persons in tenements were forced to the street when a nearby factory was threatened with total destruction.

A loft fire caused $100,000 damage.

MUSICAL SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

There will be a special musical service in St. John's Church Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, at which time Adah Mase Curran, well known contralto and vocal teacher, will make her first appearance in this city. Madame Curran is well known in the Central Hudson valley, having appeared several times in concert under the auspices of the Ossoli Club of Newburgh. Madame Curran's engagements have taken her into several states during the past year, and she has always received most flattering press notices for her work. She is a pupil of Joseph Regneas of New York, and is considered by many to be one of the finest artists in the long list of successful singers who have received their training under that great master teacher.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

COPYRIGHT BY WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION

TWELVE CHICKS

It had been several weeks that Mother Hen had been waiting patiently for the little chicks to hatch forth.

It had seemed a long wait, but Mother Hen was patient. At last they began to come forth.

Their little heads came forth first and they broke open their shells and slowly they broke away from their shells.

Some might have thought they did it very quickly, but Mother Hen thought they were a trifle slow. She was so eager to see her darlings.

In no time at all they were able to run about and play and follow their dear, devoted Mother Hen about the barnyard.

They were so soft with their downy yellow feathers and their little bodies were so cunning and their little voices so sweet.

There were twelve little chicks in all, twelve darling little babies, and Mother Hen was very proud, as well she might have been.

She had every reason to be proud.

How the little chicks did look to her for help and protection though they were learning to help themselves, too.

But Mother Hen was the one who cared for them.

She scratched the earth for seeds, she looked for little goodies for her darling wee yellow chicks.

"Peep, peep, peep," said the second little yellow chic, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the third little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the fourth little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the fifth little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

Mother Hen Was Very Proud.

"Peep, peep, peep," said the sixth little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the seventh little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the eighth little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the ninth little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the tenth little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the eleventh little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Peep, peep, peep," said the twelfth little yellow chick, "Mother Hen is looking after me."

"Cluck, cluck," said Mother Hen, "I'm looking after all of you, my little dears. Don't run away from me. Stay near mother's wing. Don't be careless.

"Be careful not to get out in the road. You're all very young yet."

"Isn't the barnyard fun, peep, peep," said the first little yellow chick.

"Oh, the world is very bright," said the second little yellow chick, with his head on one side in such a way as to make him look like a very wise little chick. "Peep, peep, it is."

"I was delighted when I saw the sunshine," said the third little yellow chick. "Peep, peep."

"Peep, peep, I was so pleased when I burst my shell," said the fourth little yellow chick.

"Peep, peep, I thought the ground would be fun to run over," said the fifth little yellow chick.

"Peep, peep, I was pleased at the look of everything," said the sixth little yellow chick.

"Peep, peep, so was I," said the seventh little yellow chick.

"Peep, peep, the same here," said the eighth little yellow chick.

"Peep peep, I was too," said the ninth little yellow chick.

"Peep, peep, I just wanted to be out right away," said the tenth little yellow chick.

"Peep, peep, so did I," said the eleventh little yellow chick.

"Peep, peep, and I did too, even if there was a bit of shell sticking to my back for quite a little while afterward," said the twelfth little yellow chick.

And Mother Hen clucked and said: "How happy my little chicks are!"

All There

A little girl had been on a visit to her aunt. When it was time for her to go home her aunt said: "Well, good-by. Mary, you must come again soon. We should like to see more of you."

"But auntie, there isn't any more of me," said Mary.

No star is lost which ever once was seen.
We always may be what we might have been.

FOOD THAT IS LIKED

A salad is always a dish to include in any luncheon menu, as well as dinner.

Cabbage Salad.—Cut a small, new cabbage into quarters, and let stand in ice water to chill; dry in a cloth, cut out and discard the hard center, then shred very fine; add a shredded green pepper freed from seeds and veins and a tablespoonful of fine chopped parsley. For a pint of material mix one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of mustard, the same of pepper, four tablespoonfuls of oil, and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Mix thoroughly. Garnish with bits of cooked beet and hard cooked eggs.

Tomato and Onion Salad.—Peel and slice ripe tomatoes; peel and cut into thin slices one mild onion. Put the onion in the salad bowl and pour over four tablespoonfuls of French dressing; with a salad fork and spoon turn the slices of onion over and over in the dressing. Add the slices of tomato and turn them carefully in the bowl, to keep the shape; add some tender heart leaves of lettuce and serve at once.

Vegetable Salad.—To one-fourth cupful of French dressing add one tablespoonful each of finely chopped onion and parsley; mix thoroughly and pour over one-fourth of a cupful each of shredded cabbage, sliced celery and radishes, one-half cupful of cooked beets and carrots cut into small cubes. Toss in a salad bowl until well mixed. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Century Salad.—Slice a cucumber or two, add sliced red pepper and chopped olives, with a bit of scraped onion. Serve with either a French or a boiled dressing.

Frozen Tomato Salad.—From a can of tomatoes take all the large pieces of pulp, press them through a sieve, and season highly with salt, pepper, onion juice, and a little tarragon vinegar. Put this mixture in the freezer and freeze as for water ice. Take out the dasher, work down well into the can, repack and let stand for two hours. Chop not too fine a half cupful of walnuts and serve the tomato on lettuce sprinkled with the nuts and garnished with mayonnaise. Or pass the mayonnaise in a bowl.

Your Health

By ANDREW F. CURRIER, M. D.

THREAD WORMS

THESE troublesome parasites, also called pin worms or seat worms, or awl worms on account of the awl-shaped caudal extremity, occur occasionally in adults and frequently in young children.

They are small, round, and white, occasionally in clumps or bunches, and found in the large intestine or the lower part of the small intestine.

By preference they choose the lower end of the large intestine or rectum for their residence.

They are occasionally found in the stomach and have been observed in the mouth, probably reaching it with the vomited contents of the stomach.

They are lively and active and frequently crawl from the rectum to the adjacent skin, sometimes appearing upon a child's clothing.

The female lays many eggs which must be swallowed by man or animal; they do not develop outside the body.

Within two weeks after the eggs reach the intestine they become full grown worms, not easily destroyed, and migrate toward the rectum.

The mature females then lay their eggs, which may be passed out of the body or remain and become a new colony of worms, this process continuing indefinitely unless they are expelled and exterminated.

The eggs are taken into the body with food or water or by means of infected hands.

There is no difficulty in detecting either the worms or the eggs, the ever-present symptom being intense itching which is very sleep-disturbing.

Other symptoms are irritability, and fretfulness, burning pain, restlessness, disturbance of the functions of the bowels and bladder, loss of appetite and anemia.

It is not unusual for sensitive children who suffer with thread worms to have convulsions or St. Vitus dance.

No uncooked or partly cooked food should be allowed; the child's nails should be kept short; and the fingers must be frequently moistened with an infusion of quassia.

Castor oil, senna or epsom salts may be given at night, but not in excessive doses.

Every morning, or every other morning, for two or three weeks, if necessary, an enema should be given through a rubber tube or catheter, which has been carefully introduced four or five inches into the bowel.

A pint of warm water, or soap and water, or boric acid solution, may first be used to cleanse the rectum, this being followed by half a pint of 1 to 10,000 solution of bichloride of mercury.

Another excellent enema is an infusion of quassia, two ounces of quassia chips being boiled in a pint of water.

Other enemas frequently used are solutions of carbolic acid; turpentine; vinegar; sulphur, etc., but those which have been mentioned will usually be found efficient if employed carefully and insistently.

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

BACK TO CHILDHOOD

LAUGH at me, and sneer at me,
Chaff at me, and jeer at me,
Call me senile kid—
Pub me childish if you will,
Back to smiling childhood still
I will gayly skid.

For I find release from care
In these laughter moments where
I'm a boy again.
And in very joy of life
With forgetfulness of strife,
And the stream of pain.

George Hutchinson, son of a New York city school teacher, is spending his vacation here at the home of the Misses Foster, and with them attended the Easter Sunday service at St. John's Church, Kingston.

Soft lovely skin ruined by constipation—let Kellogg's ALL-BRAN bring sure relief

You can permanently rid your system of this harrowing disease.

Constipation leaves its marks upon the face. Its terrible poisons, which lead to over forty serious diseases, cause pimples, hollow cheeks, sallow skin, circles under the eyes and spots before them. Unpleasant breath, too, may be traced to constipation.

Rid your body of this frightful disease. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has brought health to thousands when all else has failed. The reason—it is ALL BRAN and nothing but ALL BRAN. That is why its results are sure. That is why doctors recommend it. It takes ALL BRAN to be wholly effective.

Try it! If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief in the most chronic cases or your grocer returns the purchase price.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will like its nut-like flavor. Try the recipes on every package. Sprinkle it over other cereals.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made in Battle Creek, Michigan, and served by leading hotels and restaurants everywhere. Sold by all grocers. Buy a package today.

Turkish Women Take Up Dancing

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Constantinople, April 17.—Turkish society continues to be about equally divided over the struggle between old and new social customs.

With the greater freedom that is now allowed Turkish women, all sorts of European and American customs are slowly percolating into the social life of the country, and the efforts of the "old brigade" to stem them have so far proved unavailing.

Dancing is the latest amusement which is causing discussion.

The Constantinople courts are at present occupied with a case arising out of a college party at which, it was alleged, some visiting Hungarian students danced with the Turkish lady students. One of the newspapers reported it, whereupon the director of the college issued a denial. He now explains that he considered it was his duty to issue such a denial.

Meanwhile, despite this official timidity about the legitimacy of dancing, the highest Turkish functionaries and their wives continue to dance regularly at the Foreign Embassy parties.

DAIRY FACTS

COWS ON PASTURE NEED SOME GRAIN

The common practice of feeding no grain to dairy cows on early pasture is probably not good economy in the long run, in the opinion of workers in the field of animal feeding at Cornell university.

They point out that pasture grass is a strong stimulant to milk production. If no grain is fed the cows are likely to run down in flesh. This will lead to reduced milk production later on, when the pastures begin to dry up, and heavy feeding then will ordinarily not prevent this reduction. Cows of average production when they go on pasture should be fed at least one-third to one-half of the amount of grain they were receiving when in the barn.

But the grain mixture does not need such expensive high protein feeds as linseed oil, cottonseed meal or gluten feed as are given during the winter season. A mixture made up of equal parts of wheat bran, ground oats and hominy or corn meal would be suitable.

A grain mixture depends upon the kind of roughage with which it is to be fed. Pasture grass is a high protein feed and, furthermore, the proteins it contains are of the highest quality, so high protein feeds may be left out of the grain ration. Yet grass lacks fat or energy-producing nutrients. Except for this deficiency, it is an almost perfect feed for milk production.

In a ration made up of pasture grass and a grain mixture containing no high protein feeds, the protein content will always equal or exceed the amounts called for in feeding standards for cows producing up to sixty pounds of milk daily, as long as pasturage is plentiful, green and succulent. This statement applies only under these conditions. When pastures begin to dry up and get short during July and August the grass contains much less protein than earlier in the season. The grain mixture must then be changed to include some high protein feeds. In addition more grain must be fed to make up for the shortage in pasture.

Best Plan to Grow Into a High-Producing Dairy

"When good grade cows are selling from $150 to $200 per head, there is a tendency to buy cheap ones," says C. B. Finley, dairy expert of Iowa. Many men, he finds, get enthusiastic over the possibilities of dairying, sell their herds and replace them with cheap dairy cows whose only qualification for the name is the fact that they recently freshened or possess the color of one of the dairy breeds. The natural result is failure and a disgust for the dairy business.

Furthermore, there are many men who lack the necessary experience to make cows profitable should they succeed in buying good ones. Finley reports much more general success when farmers grow into a high-producing herd. This is accomplished by raising the daughters of a good pure bred bull or in buying a few choice heifers. No doubt individual cases warrant buying a few good pure bred cows for foundation animals.

The man who grows into the dairy business has an opportunity to reorganize his crop rotation and establish a legume crop so necessary for milk production. As a rule it is also necessary for him to improve his barn and put in a silo, all of which costs money and must be done as profits allow.

Corn Fed to Live Stock

More than 85 per cent of the United States corn crop is fed to live stock and somewhat less than 10 per cent is used for human food, according to recent data compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture. The hog is the largest consumer, 40 per cent being fed to swine on farms. Horses and cattle are next, using 20 and 15 per cent, respectively. The exports of corn, as grain, have never been large.

DAIRY NOTES

Dairying is the balance wheel of agriculture.

• • •

It takes no longer to care for a good cow than a poor one.

• • •

Inaccurate farm and shipping scales will take their cost out of your pocket several times over in a year.

• • •

It is hard to understand why so many cow-keepers have not yet discovered the value of the silo. If they have discovered it they are certainly neglectful in putting it into operation.

• • •

The feeding of scrub cows and the "scrub" feeding of good cows are two of the worst mistakes a dairyman can make.

• • •

Do not stint the dairy cow, give her all she will eat of the right kind of feeds, properly balanced, if you expect her to produce liberally.

• • •

From 25 to 40 per cent of all tuberculosis in children under five years of age is contracted by using products from tuberculous cows, according to the federal Department of Agriculture.

THE WHY, WHEN AND WHERE OF FASHIONS

Do You Wear a Charm?

It has again become smart to wear animal charms, dangling from bangles, or, as in the case of the rhinestone animal charms, pinned to one's hat. All sorts of animals, fish, odd figurines, and lucky 13 charms, clovers, horseshoes, etc., are effective—and, perhaps, effectual.

Scientists say that charms had their origin with the totemism and religion of the early races, and through ages assumed various forms such as an elk tooth or rabbit's foot.

Europe, from whence we get so many of our fads, is rich in folklore on charms. A horseshoe is primarily a good luck charm. Small statues of pigs are considered very lucky because of the habit of the porker to dig forward. By the same token, crawfish is unlucky because it crawls backward. The four-leaf clover is another sure-fire luck bringer, its merits having been recognized as far back as the XIV century.

Like the southern colored doughboy, who, during the war, wore a special make of garters, because the manufacturer guaranteed that "no metal can touch you," many people carry good luck charms, sometimes with real conviction, sometimes with excuses to avert the arrows of destiny. Popular opinion may even change as to the good or bad omen of some charm. Opal, for instance, was a good luck charm for many years until Walter Scott, in one of his novels, attributed bad luck to the opal.

FIRE PREVENTION RULES FOR FOREST CAMPERS

It is not difficult for anyone to be careful with fire while in wooded areas. Here are simple rules which if observed will go far toward reducing the appalling number of man-caused forest fires reported every year.

1. Matches—Be sure your match is out. Break it in two before you throw it away.

2. Tobacco— Be sure that pipe ashes and cigar or cigarette stubs are dead before throwing them away. Never throw them in brush, leaves, or needles.

3. Making Camp—Before building a fire scrape away all inflammable material from a spot five feet in diameter. Dig a hole in the center and in it build your camp fire. Keep your fire small. Never build it against trees or logs or near brush.

4. Breaking Camp—Never break camp until your fire is out—dead out.

5. Brush Burning—Never burn slash or brush in windy weather or while there is the slightest danger that the fire will get away.

6. How to Put Out a Camp Fire—Stir the coals while soaking them with water. Turn small sticks and drench both sides. Wet the ground around the fire. If you can't get water stir in dirt and tread it down until packed tight over and around the fire. Be sure the last spark is dead.

WEST PARK.

West Park, April 16.—The Easter services in Ascension Church were very beautiful and the offerings very liberal. On account of much sickness in the community the attendance was less than last year, but the church bell called worshippers from Kingston and Clintondale as well as Esopus and West Park. The offerings at the service, together with pledges previously gathered amounted to over $240.

Monday was the birthday of the rector, the Rev. Richard C. Searing, and a large party of friends surprised him that evening, coming with plenty of refreshments and remaining until midnight with everybody having a good time.

Mrs. William Shayne, who has been a patient at the Kingston City Hospital for two weeks, returned home last Thursday.

Eleanor Freer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rasbrouck Freer, who has had a slight form of scarlet fever, has recovered and the quarantine will be removed probably next week. There are no other cases in Esopus as far as known.

Richards Fulton of White Plains is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gale for a few days.

Mrs. Knapp Puts Ban on Gossip

In Connection With State Census Which is to Take Place in May—Only Organization Republicans Will Be in Charge of Work.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, April 17.—"Gossip is strictly forbidden."

This is the rule which Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp of Syracuse, secretary of state, has laid down in connection with the state census to be taken this summer.

"I am going to insist that the people who take the census refrain from gossip," said Mrs. Knapp. "It would be decidedly unfair for a census taker to go into a home, obtain certain information from that particular family and then go out and gossip about it."

Mrs. Knapp also let it be known that only organization Republicans will be placed in charge of the census work. The census will cost the state $1,200,000.

Lafayette B. Gleason of New York, secretary of the Republican State Committee, who was recently appointed by Mrs. Knapp as state supervisor of the census, is expected to shortly begin preliminary work for the taking of the census. His salary will be $7,000 a year.

The county census supervisors will be appointed by Mrs. Knapp only upon the recommendation of the Republican county committees. In discussing the creation of the census taking army, Mrs. Knapp said:

"The county organizations will recommend the candidates for the county supervisors. County census headquarters will be established in the various county court buildings."

The taking of the census will start next month. Mrs. Knapp hopes to employ many school teachers in the work. She also has sent letters to all sheriffs asking their cooperation. Police chiefs from many cities already have offered their services.

Mrs. Knapp will have the appointment of about 7,500 enumerators. They will be paid $3 a day plus three cents for every name and their returns. In sparsely settled districts the secretary of state is authorized to allow additional compensation for the enumerators.

THE SLASHED-UP-THE-BACK TUNIC.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

The tunic must have something more to offer than being a mere tunic. The novelty of that form of garment has passed. Interest is stimulated, however, by slashing it up the back, down the front, or giving it some individuality.

Shortened, it becomes a jumper, and being a jumper this season means having entree into the best society.

A French frock, which has a yoke and border of contrasting color, and appliqued flowers of ribbon, is made on tunic lines which have been tampered with to the extent of having a blouse effect and a low beltline.

A Tunic Frock With Much Trimming Interest.

Yokes, of course, are prime favorites, and occur on coats, blouses and dresses of all sorts. Many of them are of lace or finely pleated batiste, for the lingerie touch charms most women, and nowadays, when one may choose lace of any flattering shade, its appeal is even wider.

Speaking of neckwear, Chantal shows a new treatment of it which is a band of embroidered or beaded fabric that is placed on the collar, neckline, or cuffs of a dress, so that it seems to be part of it, and yet is detachable, as may be seen when the collar opens and the georgette band forms a separate little necklace by itself, or the cuff forms a bracelet.

The vogue of gray has caused gray neckwear to be among the desirables.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, April 16.—There will be a food sale at the Rose-Gorman-Rose store on Saturday afternoon, April 18, beginning at 1:30, under the auspices of the Builders' Class of the Stone Ridge Methodist Episcopal Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Elsien of Madison, N. J., spent last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Eckert.

A large congregation attended the Easter service in the Methodist Church, and welcomed the returned pastor, the Rev. George Weber.

EASTER AT TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

The Holy Week and Easter services at Trinity Lutheran Church, the Rev. William H. Fritzsch, pastor. Five hundred and four persons received holy communion, which was sixty-three more than last year. At the children's service on Good Friday afternoon two hundred pictures of the crucified Savior were presented to the worshippers.

Easter Sunday night at the children's festival each child received a chocolate rabbit. The program was well rendered and the pastor after relating the resurrection story in the simplest manner possible amused the adults as well as the children with a few humorous stories.

Easter Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church the pastor baptized Pearl Adeline Sulko, infant daughter of Andrew and Lena Sulko of Goldrick's Landing. The witnesses were Miss Pauline Sulko and Alexander Sish. At 2:15 o'clock that afternoon in the church the pastor also baptized Gertrude Woelfersheim, infant daughter of Herman and Gertrude Woelfersheim of Rhinebeck. The witnesses were Louis Kappus and Mrs. Wilhelmine Woelfersheim.

"MOONSHINER" LATEST OCCUPATION LISTED.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Spanish Pass, Texas, April 17.—Moonshiner is the latest occupation that may be added to the Kendall county directory.

After prohibition agents raided a farm near Sisterdale, they arrested a man found on the property.

"What is your occupation?" a federal district attorney asked when the man was arraigned before the United States commissioner.

"Moonshiner," was the reply.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Stylish Frock.

4986. The girl who desires "something different" will be pleased with the style here portrayed. It has the popular front closing and a tiered effect in the flounces.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. A 16 year size requires 4 yards of 40 inch material. If made as illustrated ¼ yard of contrasting material will be required for collar and cuffs.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date spring and summer 1925 Book of Fashions, showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 20 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

SEEK STORAGE BATTERY TO RUN AIRPLANES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Tokyo, April 17.—The most important device as yet uninvented, in the opinion of the Japanese Imperial Invention Association, is a storage battery that will operate airplanes. For the inventor who can perfect such a battery a prize of $500,000 is available in Japan.

Sakichi Toyoda, a multi-millionaire textile manufacturer, offered the prize for any invention that the Imperial Invention Association might decide was the most important.

Battery "A" On Second Lap

Recruiting Campaign Takes on Fresh Activity as Organization Prepares to Bring Membership Up to Full Strength—Public Drill Monday Night.

Battery "A," 156th Field Artillery, stationed at the local armory and under command of Captain E. L. Cashin, will start on the second lap of their recruiting campaign by inviting the public to witness the drill of the battery on Monday evening, April 20.

For some time past the battery has been endeavoring to bring the battery up to full peace time strength, which is a total of 114 men. The battery has been doing much along these lines but still further progress must be made in order to place the battery at the head and have Battery "A" first on the maximum strength list as it has been on every other list. This great undertaking can be accomplished only with the efforts of the officers and members of the battery and the public.

A French 75mm. gun will be on display on Monday evening at the armory and will be set at one end of the armory so the public may view it and be able to ask any questions of the officer and men placed in charge. Any questions or doubts that anyone may have as to the operation or construction of the 75mm. gun can be cleared up at this time. The public is most cordially invited to attend this exhibition and avail themselves of the opportunity so afforded. It is also the desire of the officers of the battery to have the general support of the public as the work that is being done by the battery cannot be accomplished single-handed.

The battery offers many advantages to the men in the line of athletics and many other ways. The work is interesting and educational and the cause a worthy one, deserving the support of everyone.

Many people have the idea that a military organization such as Battery "A" is only an inducement and institution for the preparation for war. But the main feature of the unit is to be beneficial to the men who avail themselves of the privilege of joining and to aid the public in their needs. The last thing that is set forth is only taken as a minor object and that is, to be ready in case of an emergency.

"INDIVIDUALITY OF DRESS"

Row of Jangling Bracelets Is Unattractive On Thin Arm

A row of bracelets of bangle style is unbecoming to the thin arm. These loose bracelets emphasize the length and thinness of the arm. A much better bracelet is a snug-fitting one of beads, not too wide.

Ex-Klan Leader's Home Fire Swept

Kerosene and Gasoline Near House—Gas Jets Turned On—He Is Under Indictment on Serious Charge—Funeral of Alleged Victim Held Earlier in Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—Flames, believed to have been of incendiary origin, early today swept through the palatial home of David C. Stephenson, ex-grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, who is under indictment on charges of criminally attacking Miss Madge Oberholtzer, 28. Stephenson was not at home when the fire occurred.

Neighbors told authorities the flames shot high into the air at the Stephenson residence following an explosion.

Firemen found a quantity of kerosene and gasoline near the house. Inside, all gas jets were found open.

Only yesterday funeral services were held for Miss Oberholtzer. She died from the effects of poison she drank after an attack with which the former Klan leader was charged.

Stephenson deserted the house several months ago to live in a downtown hotel, following the filing of a suit against the former Klan leader by a woman in Oklahoma who represented herself as his former wife.

Several months ago Stephenson's yacht was dynamited at Toledo but he was not hurt.

FORTY-EIGHT SOCIETY MEETING AT ELLENVILLE

Voiture Locale No. 381, La Societe Des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, of Ulster county, better known as the 40-8 society, the name being familiar to those who saw the inscription on the box cars in France, held their regular monthly meeting at Ellenville Thursday evening in the meeting rooms of the American Legion Post. Several applications for membership were favorably voted on, three new members being present. During a recess period the members went to the Shamrock Restaurant where a steak dinner was served. The meeting next month will be held in Kingston. A large delegation from Kingston and Saugerties was present.

"Figures Never Lie"
—WHAT?

Are you sure that all the figures you receive about the conduct of your business are really correct?

You can't be sure if the figuring is done by person. The most intelligent person will sometimes err. And these errors often vitally affect the business.

At the small cost of $100—less than 5c a day in 10 years—You can have mechanical accuracy in your figure work. The Victor Adding Machine is the secret. It will help you get your monthly statements out correctly and on time; it will check figures on the bills you are asked to pay; it will safeguard your dollars in innumerable ways.

The Victor low price is due to concentration on one model—standardized manufacture, selling and service. It is a complete standard adding and listing machine—adds, subtracts, multiplies and divides up to $1,000,000. Strong, compact, portable. Standard keyboard. With tabulating-loose-leaf carriage at slight additional cost.

Girl Sacrificed To Indian God

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Jubbulpore, India, April 17.—The sacrifice of a girl to the goddess Kali, has been revealed in a trial in the courts here.

The favorite son of a former government employe was stricken ill, and it was believed that he was possessed of an evil spirit. Human sacrifice was prescribed as the only means of saving the boy's life. Blood from the victim being put on bread and taken to the abode of a holy man.

The sacrifice of the girl was made but the boy failed to recover, and he was then starved and eventually bound and left naked in cold weather on an open space near the abode of the holy man. He died from exposure.

The father of the boy and two brothers of the boy have been sentenced to death. A woman relative has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

Dempsey-Kearns Union to Break

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 17.—Finis was to be written here today, according to report, to the Dempsey-Kearns combination.

Jack Dempsey, the actor-pugilist, was scheduled to meet his manager, Jack Kearns, prior to the heavyweight's departure for New York today for final settlement of their affairs.

A division of property held jointly by the champion and Kearns was to be made, it was said. The property includes a hotel, apartment house, and other real estate in Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, Utah.

After weeks of quarrelling Kearns was credited with having told Dempsey he desired to break with him, at least for the time being.

Kearns, however, has no intention, according to his friends, of relinquishing a contract he holds with the heavyweight and should Dempsey decide to return to the ring, Kearns would be in a position to demand a fifty-fifty split of his earnings up to September, 1926, when the contract expires.

Dempsey has made plans to spend several weeks in New York, making the final scenes of his new film and will then leave with his bride, Estelle Taylor, the movie actress, for a tour of England and France. He will return to America late this summer.

Kearns plans to continue as a fight director. He may become manager of Mickey Walker, the welterweight king. He also wants to manage Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska lightweight, acknowledged lightweight champion of the Pacific coast.

Tagging Major League Bases

Hit 'em first and explain afterwards, said the Washington Senators as they overcame a five run lead in the last three innings and beat the Yanks, 7 to 5. Goslin's second homer of the pastime just about clinched the business in the ninth, but Judge added another for good measure.

The White Sox nipped the Tigers right at the wire, 4 to 2, when Rip Collins blew wide apart and allowed three runs in the ninth.

Stepping out of character entirely, the Phillies handed the Dodgers an eight to one jolt. Clarence Mitchell taming his ex-playmates without trouble.

Hartnett's two homers, making three in the last two days, helped to bring the Cubs down to the tape an eight to three winner over the Pirates, young Blake pitching commendably.

The Reds took another fall out of the Cards, 7 to 3. Rixey allowing only two hits through the last seven innings.

After Kallio had flopped in the sixth, Rommel socked a homer off Ross with two on in the eighth and the Athletics made it three straight over the Red Sox. Score, 7 to 3.

Dixon's error in the second staked Myatt to a run in the second but the latter made a personal issue of the second and last tally, hitting a homer in the ninth which gave the Indians a 2 to 1 decision over the Browns.

John Scott held the Braves to four hits and the Giants came home on the bit, 5 to 1, smiting McNamara and Benton for six runs in the ninth.

NEW TRAINING SCHEME FOR HARVARD PITCHERS.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cambridge, Mass., April 17.—A new training scheme, which will resemble somewhat a circus side show, will be tried out soon by Coach Ned Mahon's Harvard baseball players.

A target of canvas, with an opening as wide as the plate and as long as the distance between a batter's knees and shoulders, will be erected for the pitchers to throw at.

Crimson authorities believe that such a target will prove better than having the pitchers work out with a catcher.

CULLOTON PITCHED TWO INNINGS THURSDAY

Bud Culloton, former Colonial ace, now with the Pittsburgh National League team, pitched in his first big league game on Thursday. The local boy was on the mound but for two innings, being the third Pirate pitcher to hurl them over. In the two innings, Culloton allowed two hits and no runs. Bud went into the game in the last two innings The score standing 8 to 2 in Chicago's favor. Kremer was the losing pitcher.

WALTER JOHNSON IS EASY WITH FRIENDS

Autographs Programs, Baseballs and Coupons for Numerous Friends.

Here's a little story which shows why a nation of baseball fans prayed for Walter Johnson to beat the Giants in the opening game of the world's series in Washington and wept when he was beaten.

When the Senators came out of their dugout for practice, the beloved Walter with another Washington player went out to the third base line to field a few bunts. Johnson fielded just two bunts when a friend called him over to one of the box seats.

The fans in the left field section of the stand spied the great pitcher signing a program for his friend. A youngster skipped out of his seat and rushed down to where Johnson was standing.

"Will you sign this for me?" said the youngster, holding out a program. Johnson autographed the program. That was all that was necessary. For the next 20 minutes a steady stream of fans rushed over to Johnson. They brought baseballs, programs and seat coupons and a few other things with them for the great pitcher to autograph.

Johnson never said a word, but signed each article as it was handed to him with a smile. Occasionally he lifted his blue eyes upward to see if the crowd had increased. As the last program was signed, Johnson walked back to the bench—smiling.

He signed at least a hundred articles and in a way that won him a hundred more friends.

FEAR SUICIDE THREAT OF "LONE WOLF" RAYNOR

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, April 17.—Precautions were taken at Charlestown State Prison today to prevent James E. Walters, the "lone wolf" serving his first day of life imprisonment, from carrying out his threat to take his life.

As he entered the prison gates, Walters said: "The first chance I get I'll cut my throat. I've always lived out in the open. I'm the kind of man who can't stand confinement."

Mrs. Irene Scott Walters, the "wolf's" bride—his third wife—declared today that she would not desert her husband. "I shall visit him at the jail every week," she said.

British Air Ship Safely Home

Reaches Mooring Mast After 29 Hour Trip Over North Sea Where She Was Blown by Gale—Still Carried Artillery Wheels Used as Anchors.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Pulham, England, April 17.—Safe at home after her 29 hour battle with gales over the North Sea, the dirigible R-33 was brought to her mooring mast here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

When the R-33 sailed over the aerodrome a crowd of several hundred persons let out a tremendous roar of welcome.

The ship's nose was badly flattened and there was a huge hole in its port side from which canvas flapped in the wind.

The two heavy artillery wheels which the ship pulled up when it broke loose yesterday still were attached.

The fact that the big bag was punctured made the trip a remarkable experience and its safe return a miraculous achievement, aerodrome officers declared.

The praise of the air ministry went forward by radio to greet the returning air adventurers.

"Your efforts are splendid and redound to the credit of you all," Air Marshal General Salmond wirelessed the ship.

Germany Interested in Flight.

Berlin, April 17.—Germany watched with keen interest today the winning fight of the British dirigible R-33 against the storm. The big wireless stations waited all night to pick up any messages that might come from the airship.

German vessels in the North Sea were given radio instructions to watch for the dirigible.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Where "The Man Without a Country" Originated.

Fort Adams, in Wilkinson county, Mississippi, deserves a place among the historic forts of the United States because it gave to us the greatest story on patriotism ever written—Edward Everett Hale's "The Man Without a Country." It was from a letter written by Gen. James Wilkinson, commander in chief of the American army in the early days of the republic, at Fort Adams, that Hale got the name Philip Nolan for the hero of his story and many of the scenes in the book are laid in and about Fort Adams.

Although Hale's story is purely fiction, there was a real Philip Nolan, who was in fact a "man without a country" but not, as Hale wrote it, because he cursed the name of his native land. This real Philip Nolan was an Irish political refugee who had not been in his adopted country long before he was joining Aaron Burr in a conspiracy against it and eventually was killed by the Spanish governor of Texas.

The site of Fort Adams has long been a historic one. The first white man to visit it was Father Davion, a Frenchman, who erected a cross there and called it Roche a Davion. It was later called Loftus Heights, after a British major who with 400 men was ambushed there by the Tunica Indians in 1784.

During President John Adams' administration the government bought this site from Francis Jones, who held it under a Spanish grant, and built there Fort Adams, named in honor of the President. There Lieut. Meriweather Lewis was stationed for a while before going to the capital to become President Jefferson's secretary and from there Governor Claiborne and General Wilkinson started for New Orleans for the formal ceremony of receiving the Louisiana Purchase.

In its early years Fort Adams was one of the most important military posts in the Middle West. It was at this fort that General Wilkinson negotiated with the Indians for opening a road from the fort through Natchez to Nashville and that part of the road between Natchez and Nashville became the famous "Natchez Trace."

There is a good story told about one of General Wilkinson's subordinates at the fort. The general had lost his queue and ordered all of his officers to have theirs cut off. Maj. Richard Butler not only refused, but told Doctor Carmichael, the post surgeon, that in case of his death he wished to have a hole bored in his coffin and his queue pulled through it so that the general would know that he defied him even in death!

Many Matters For Federation

The April meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the City Library on Thursday afternoon and many matters of importance were considered. Dr. Mary Gage-Day presided and following the reports of the secretary, Mrs. Cora E. Drake, and the treasurer, Miss Lucy Healey, the matter of the coming Third District Branch meeting was brought up by the District chairman, Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen.

Delegates to District Meeting.

The meeting will be held at the Colony Plaza, 411 State street, Albany, on Thursday, April 23, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. All delegates who are planning to go are reminded that they must have their reservation for dinner in by Monday of next week. The price of the dinner will be one dollar and those wishing reservations should write at once to Mrs. Elizabeth W. Smith, 212 Hamilton street, Albany, N. Y.

Representatives for Lecture Committee.

Some little time was devoted to the subject of another lecture course of two lectures similar to the one held last year, for the coming season. As it is necessary to make arrangements for dates in the spring, it was voted that each affiliated club should at once select a representative to act, with power, upon the lecture committee for 1925-26, those representatives to meet with the executive committee at its next meeting, the third Thursday in May, before the open meeting, when any action taken by the committee will be ratified by the whole Federation.

Annual Federation Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs will be held the third Saturday in May when officers will be elected. Also every club and affiliated body as well as standing committee will be expected to have ready a three minute written report of the year's work accomplished by them. All clubs and committees are asked to make note of this fact now, so as to be fully prepared with their report for the May open meeting.

This meeting will be entertained by the Federation, and following the business session, Dr. Day will give a talk on her recent trip which will be illustrated with beautiful lantern slides. The committee from the Federation having this meeting in charge will be Mrs. Clarence Hendricks, Mrs. E. E. Norwood, Mrs. A. D. J. Murphy, Mrs. L. Ray Fowler, and Mrs. Mary D. De Hetlogh.

Moody Speaker at Annual Meeting

Son of Famous Evangelist to Deliver Address at Annual Meeting of Central Y. M. C. A. on May 11—An Interesting Meeting Anticipated.

Preparations are now being made for the annual meeting of the Central Young Men's Christian Association of Kingston. This occasion is always of considerable interest and word has been received from W. R. Moody that he will motor to Kingston and deliver the address of the evening.

The meeting is to be held on Monday, May 11, at 6:30 p. m. The Ladies' Auxiliary are furnishing a broiled chicken dinner and tickets can now be secured at the Y. M. C. A. office.

William R. Moody, president of Northfield School, which was founded by his father, Dwight L. Moody, the famous evangelist, under the direction of Mr. Moody these schools have grown and prospered and the name of Northfield, the home of the girls' school, is known the world around. Students from practically every country on the globe can be found at Mt. Hermon. When Dwight Moody founded the school it was with the idea of giving boys an education who could not afford it. Each student had two hours' work each day to perform which lessened the expense of board and tuition.

W. R. Moody is a graduate of Yale and a very forceful speaker. Those who have the opportunity of being present on this occasion will have reasons to be pleased with the evening's program.

The election of new directors will take place at this time and the report of the year's work will be given by the general secretary. The Extension Association has made good progress and it is anticipated that the evening program will be one of interest, enjoyment and profit.

In order to make the best financial report possible it is hoped that those who have payments to make either on membership, mortgage fund or maintenance fund, will send in a check covering the amount due sometime during the next few days.

Recital at Zion Church.

This evening, the choir of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church will give a recital which will be of pleasing interest to all who attend under the direction of Mr. A. Van Dyke. W. Doty will be at the organ. Refreshments will be served at the close of the recital.

Compulsory Auto Insurance Legal

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, April 17.—Legislation providing for compulsory automobile liability insurance, if there is a judicial review of rates and premiums, is constitutional, according to opinions of the supreme judicial court read in the house today.

A lengthy opinion was given in reply to a long list of questions submitted by the Legislature. Several bills for compulsory auto liability insurance are before the general court.

A SUMMER TRAINING CAMP FOR YOUNG BOYS

William McAndrew, Chicago superintendent of schools, and August S. Hibbard, chairman of the Camp Roosevelt Association, have been successful in securing from Secretary of War Weeks the use of a part of the Fort Sheridan military reservation, for a summer training camp and school for boys. Major F. L. Beals, who will have command of the camp, has announced from his offices at the board of education that plans for the summer camp are completed, and that work will be begun immediately so that the camp will be in readiness before the opening date, June 29.

The summer school will be housed in the well constructed hospital buildings, which are admirably suited to school purposes, providing ample office, classroom and assembly space, and are sufficiently removed from the main grounds to insure proper attention to study.

Camp Roosevelt's summer school is organized as a part of the Chicago public school system, with Captain J. C. Thompson, who is assistant principal of the Morgan Park High School, as principal. Credits earned in this unique summer school are fully recognized by the Chicago school system.

Headquarters offices for the camp are maintained at the board of education, 460 South State street, where all requests for information should be sent.

AGENTS CAPTURE TWO TRUCK LOADS OF BEER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Binghamton, N. Y., April 17.—Night travel through the city was stopped by sheriff's and deputies, federal prohibition agents, and the police of three towns while the streets and highways were searched for a motor caravan of beer and shortly before daylight this morning two trucks were captured with two men on each and a man who alighted from a pilot car was also seized. All arteries of travel were blocked at once by officers with pistols loosened in their holsters, buckled outside their coats. Scores of automobiles were stopped.

The truck was seized, and one man who alighted from the pilot car was arrested, but the car, at 70 miles an hour, outran pursuit and escaped toward Scranton.

YOUNG GIRL SLAYER ON TRIAL WEDNESDAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New Haven, Conn., April 17.—One hundred extra talesmen have been summoned to appear next Wednesday when Olympia Macri, young slayer of John Bagano, goes on trial for her life in the superior court. Held without bail since February when she was arrested with a smoking pistol in her hand after shooting Bagnano down on a crowded street, Miss Macri, 17, insists that Bagnano refused to support a child of which she says Bagnano was the father. Counsel for the girl will seek an acquittal on the ground that Miss Macri was justified in killing her former lover who afterward married another girl.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—Railroad stocks made a strong bid for leadership in the stock market today. Sales of railroad shares were in almost as large volume as the motor stocks and price trends were upward. There was apparently little liquidation of the motor stocks. General Motors continued to move forward and Maxwell issues also were strong.

Strength in the railroad stocks was due largely to rumors of important developments in dividends and amalgamations. Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville and Nashville and New York Central lead the investment rails while Chicago Great Western, Rock Island and Kansas City Southern were in the lead for the speculative issues. St. Paul common was weak and broke below five for the first time in its history.

Cast Iron Pipe, Savage Arms, and a few other of the specialty stocks were subjected to heavy selling but with less effect than in yesterday's session. The oil stocks were conspicuously reactionary, due to price cutting in Penna crude but only a small volume of stock was traded, and prices staged a fair recovery.

The decline in raw sugar prices to 2¾@2⅞ cents a pound resulted in considerable selling of the sugar stocks. American Sugar sold about 3½ points below its recent high. The copper stocks displayed considerable weakness.

Utah Securities advanced about five points more to 82, in continuation of the remarkable movement which sent that stock from 16½ in about year. Radio Corporation, American Telephone and Telegraph, Western Union, Spicer Mfg., Gold Dust, and other active specialty stocks were steady. Excellent demand continued for United States Steel and American Can. Baldwin and General Electric sold at slightly higher prices.

The advance of cotton prices to 25 cents for July and 2485 for October was a feature of the late trading. Call money ruled at 3½ per cent.

Los Angeles Aids In "Dry" Drive

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Lakehurst, N. J., April 17.—One object of the flight of the dirigible Los Angeles yesterday was revealed here today when it was learned that while the ship was aloft navy photographers took pictures of 21 rum ships lying off the coast between Barnegat Bay and Montauk Point.

It is expected that the pictures will be turned over to the coast guard and will materially help this branch of the prohibition service in their campaign against "rum row."

The Los Angeles is scheduled to fly to Bermuda tomorrow.

LATEST NEWS OF NEW YORK STATE FARM ORGANIZATIONS

Prepared for This Paper by the New York State Farm Bureau Federation, Ithaca, N. Y.

Strike in Baltimore Harbor May Delay Spring Plainting

A complete tie-up in the Baltimore harbor, due to a strike by the captains and mates of tug-boats serving the harbor, is causing concern to farmers along the Atlantic seaboard. Baltimore is the headquarters of many large fertilizer companies who have their principle plants located on deep water in the harbor. One of these is the Davidson Chemical Company, the largest producer of acid phosphate, an important element in most mixed fertilizers. Another is the Standard Guano Company which claims one of the largest plants in the world.

These plants, together with others in the harbor, depend upon almost continuous service by lighters and barges. Because of the refusal of the tugboat crews to handle this kind of traffic and their success in intimidating the owners of launches who might otherwise be induced to take care of it, the whole manufacturing schedule is upset and in the case of many plants completely paralysed.

According to H. E. Babcock, general manager of the farmer-owned G. L. F. Exchange, which has an interest in a large fertilizer plant in the Baltimore harbor, delays in shipments of fertilizer from Baltimore are inevitable and will set back shipping schedules from two to four weeks.

This means that if Spring comes early, as it now promises to do, many farmers will not receive fertilizer in time for planting, even though the strike should be settled immediately. Some farmers will be able to get supplies from centers other than Baltimore. A very large transfer of orders, however, will be likely to congest an already heavy shipping program under way at these points so that much may not be gained by the transfer. Farmers interviewed on the situation report that in the cases of some crops they will apply the fertilizers after the crops are in. Many acres of oats and spring grains will probably go in with the plan of top dressing them with fertilizer when it is received.

New York Hay Growers Win First Round in Freight Rate Battle

Prompt work upon the part of the transportation director of the N. Y. State Farm Bureau Federation recently saved hay growers in New York State many thousands of dollars.

The opportunity to render this service came as a result of a move by the members of the Michigan Hay and Grain Association to undertake to secure lower freight rates on hay from Michigan points to the east and south.

A hearing on their proposal was held in Washington on March 20 before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Transportation Director E. V. Titus of the N. Y. State Farm Bureau Federation being unable to attend deputized G. Thomas Powell of Nassau County to represent the federation.

According to Mr. Powell the Michigan Association, when they found that their request for a reduction in rate was not likely to be granted, asked for an increase in the New York State rate. This was also denied them.

As far as New York hay growers are concerned the danger of this western competition is not yet removed as another attempt will undoubtedly be made by Michigan hay growers to secure a schedule of freight rates which will in effect be preferential to their interests.

The N. Y. State farm bureau federation is on record to fight all such attempts and based on the experience in its first brush with the Michigan interests can be safely relied upon by New York farmers to protect their interests.

Western New York Fruit Growers Move to New Headquarters

The offices of the Western New York Fruit Growers are now located at 70 Exchange Street, Rochester, N. Y. The association formerly had its headquarters in the Triangle Building in the same city.

In the last report of the association to members they were advised that since the middle of March the market for apples has been dull and the movement consequently slow. It was also reported that fruit is not keeping in storage as well as usual at this time of the year.

Despite these conditions the association has moved most of its stock and has been able to close several of its variety pools.

For the past several weeks experts from the U. S. Department of Agriculture have been studying the organization and also looking up outlets for which its pack is adapted. These experts have filed a preliminary report with the directors and expect to make a final report by May 1.

ARRAIGNMENT OF MRS. CUNNINGHAM SATURDAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Crown Point, Ind., April 17.—Arraignment of Mrs. Anna Cunningham, Gary's "poisoning mother" on charges of murdering her son, Walter, 10, by administering arsenic, was set definitely today for tomorrow morning, after twice being postponed because of the woman's condition. She has confessed to poisoning her three children.

Mrs. Cunningham spent a restful night and apparently had recovered from the strange coma into which she sank yesterday.

Her lawyers, retained by her daughter, Mae, have not revealed what action they would take at the hearing or what plea they would enter.

BANDITS' MISTAKE COST THEM $10,000 TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—A mistake in suit cases cost three bandits $10,000 today when they overpowered a salesman in the office of the Anchor Cap and Closure Corporation, Long Island City. Believing they were getting a $10,000 payroll they fled with a bag containing only a bulky electric drill.

WINS $3,000 VERDICT AGAINST POUGHKEEPSIE FERRY

A verdict of $3,000 was awarded Arthur D. Manning by a supreme court jury in Poughkeepsie Thursday night in his action for $25,000 damages against the Poughkeepsie and Highland Ferry Company for personal injuries received when his gasoline launch was struck by a ferryboat in June, 1922.

MT. TREMPER.

Mt. Tremper, April 17.—Many out of town people were here over the Easter holiday. Among them were Frederick Heintz and relatives of New York city, at their cottage.

The Forrest families of Brooklyn are spending the week at their cottage.

Many Ideal Park people were at their cottages and bungalows.

Mrs. Grace Randall entertained a lot of guests over the holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Scudder, Miss Grace Randall and Stewart Randall of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Traver and son, George and Mrs. Votee.

Lawrence Keiser of Brooklyn spent the Easter holiday at the Howland House with Mrs. Keiser and her parents.

Miss Fannie Gardner was hurt in an auto accident on Tuesday evening. While driving with her sister, Delta, and two young men toward Shokan to avoid a head-on collision with another car, they went in the ditch. Miss Delta was thrown through the top of the car but escaped injury, only being badly shaken up, but Fannie was pressed in under the car. That she wasn't killed seems a miracle. Neither of the young men were hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilber entertained on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Horace Maxon, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wilber of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wilber and son, Marion, of Willow.

School closed on Tuesday for the balance of the week for Easter vacation.

All are glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ingersoll and children home after their southern sojourn.

Money Market Easier.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—The advance of about 2¾ per cent in the New York Federal Reserve Bank reserve ratio emphasized the easier position of the money market. While posted rates for call money were 3½ per cent, it was reported that loans were made at 3 per cent in the outside market. Time funds were easier; rates for three to six months were quoted at 4 per cent.

Glasco Assault in County Court

Involves Question Whether Complainant Was Cut by Knife or by Falling Over Bottles—Trial Delayed Because Italian Witnesses Misunderstood English.

County court took an unexpected recess Thursday afternoon. The Caroline Ascarini action, assault second degree, had been moved for trial in the morning by District Attorney Traver and the morning session was taken up in the selection of a jury At noon a jury had been secured and the jurors not on the panel were excused until Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The witnesses on the part of The People, men and women of Italian birth who reside at Glasco, evidently did not understand the instructions of the court to return at 2 o'clock when the case would be taken up, for when the court opened at 2 o'clock none of the witnesses for The People showed up. After a wait it was learned that the witnesses were under the impression that they were excused until Monday and had gone home Many of the witnesses in the case have but a slight understanding of the English language and this evidently led to the misunderstanding

The sheriff later rounded them up and the case was resumed and a number of witnesses sworn.

This morning the Ascarini case was continued The action grew out of a cutting match which took place on July 3 last, when it is alleged the defendant cut one Marie Martini The act is alleged to have been started over jealousy, the defendant claiming that Mrs Martini was too friendly with Mr Ascarini The complainant contended that she was cut with a knife which was used by defendant Defendant claimed that Marie was cut but that the injuries were sustained by falling on some bottles and not from a knife

A knife which was identified by witnesses as one which was found near the scene a few minutes after the cutting was produced and marked for identification The knife was stained with blood, according to one witness It was a large butcher knife

The testimony was brought out slowly as many of the witnesses were unable to speak English only with difficulty and with many misunderstandings Joseph Erena, interperter at times was called on to interpert the answers of witnesses.

Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., and Roscoe Ellsworth appeared for defendant and District Attorney Traver and Assistant District Attorney Murray appeared for The People

A jury will be taken in the Albert Pross case Monday afternoon and the case will be ready to take up Tuesday morning This arrangement was reached Thursday afternoon

Stirs London

MAHARAJAH of JEDHPUR

Housed in one of the most luxurious mansions in Wimbledon, London's exclusive suburb, are the Maharajah of Jedhpur, four of his wives and a suit of thirty—and London is revelling in stories of the dusky Indian whose wealth is unbelievable. He took eight limousines and seventy pole ponies to England with him, and his wives move about only in enclosed sedan chairs, even the servants being forbidden to look at them.

BILLS DISPOSED OF BY GOVERNOR SMITH

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, April 17.—Governor Smith has vetoed the Clayton bus bill which was strongly opposed by Mayor Hylan and the New York city administration. The mayor claimed that approval of the bill would make it impossible for New York to operate buses unless it obtains permission from the transit commission.

The Thayer bill which would have classed freight bus lines as common carriers, thereby bringing them under the public service commission, was vetoed

Two bills sponsored by Senator Cole, Republican, of Herkimer, providing for permissive consolidation of rural school districts were approved. One provides that the state pay one-half of the cost of transporting pupils to schools in consolidated districts and that it also pay 25 per cent of the cost of new school buildings.

The governor vetoed the Baumes bill which would have given the members of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission control over the highways in and along the park.

Colonials Ready For Opening Game

Saturday Afternoon at the Fair Grounds—The D. & H. Generals Will Oppose the Colonials in the Opening Contest.

All is ready for the opening game of baseball Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when the Colonials meet the D. & H. Generals. The grounds this spring are in excellent condition, several men having been engaged during the past three weeks getting them in order and as the circus saying goes they are "bigger and better than ever."

The different members af the team have secured their uniforms of cream white with purple trimming The sweaters of the same color have a large purple circle on the sleeve with the word "Colonials K" in purple.

As in the past the big American flag will float from the grounds flagstaff every day there is to be a game at the local grounds This flag is flown from the staff formerly used on the famous steamer Mary Powell. New foul flags of metal have been installed

A big attraction has been booked for Sunday, April 26, when the Brooklyn Royal Giants will play here This team is composed of the best colored players and has met and defeated some of the best clubs in the country The team is secured by the local management at considerable expense and is expected to put up an exceptionally good game.

The attendants this season on the grounds, including the ticket sellers and ticket takers, will be equipped with white caps with a purple visor to distinguish them and show that they are a part of the Colonial machine.

All reserved seats in the grand stand which have not been sold will be offered for sale at 25 cents extra In addition to the reserved seats which will cost 50 cents in addition to the admission charge, there will, of course, be the regular grand stand seats which will be offered for 25 cents but which will not be reserved

The D & H. Generals will arrive in town at 12 o'clock and will take part in the parade through the city

Mayor Morris Block will pitch out the first ball of the season and officially open the baseball season on Saturday afternoon at 3 30 o'clock.

Games Saturday At Epworth Hall

At Epworth Hall, Clinton avenue, on Saturday evening there will be held an evening of games. At 7.15 o'clock the Winners' Volley Ball team will meet the Clinton Avenue Volley Ball team

At 8 o'clock the Clinton avenue high school girls will play the high school girls of the Fair Street Reformed Church a game of basketball.

At 9 o'clock the Senior basketball team of the Clinton Avenue M. E Church will play the Junior team of the church. As both teams have won the championship in their class, this contest will no doubt be most interesting.

GIANT DIRIGIBLE WILL VISIT NEW ENGLAND

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, April 17.—The navy's giant dirigible Los Angeles, will visit Boston on Monday to participate in the 150th anniversary of the battles of Concord and Lexington.

The Los Angeles will fly to Boston on her return trip from Bermuda, where she will go over the week end The visit to New England was ordered by the navy department in response to requests from Governor Fuller and the Massachusetts Congressional delegation.

The giant airship will manoeuvre over Boston and adjoining terrain as a part of the anniversary celebration.

Higher Rates for Seasonal Users

New York Telephone Company Files Petition With P. S. C. Asking for Permission for Season Rates at Pine Hill.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, April 17.—The New York Telephone Company has filed a petition with the Public Service Commission asking for authority to introduce season rates in the central office districts of Fleischmanns, Delaware county, Pine Hill, Ulster county; and Bolton and Lake George in Warren county

The company alleges that in each of the districts the summer business is substantially in excess of that handled during the other months of the year. Stating that it would be unfair to all-year customers to reflect in the general rate structure the expense of maintaining idle equipment during the winter months, the company asks leave to make only such changes that seasonal users of the service may be required to bear their proper relative proportion of the cost Under the proposed schedule the seasonal users would pay the scheduled rates for the district for seven months of the year.

SENIOR HOLY NAME DANCE GREAT SUCCESS

St Mark's Senior Holy Name Society of St. Mark's Parish held its old fashioned dance Thursday evening at St Mark's School Hall, with an attendance of about 1,000. The hall was tastefully decorated with crepe paper of the finest quality and was artistically arranged

American flags were draped at the entrance to the hall, on either side and on the stage. In the center of the hall was a box of red crepe paper which was the center of attraction.

The hit of the evening was the grand march which occurred at ten o'clock, being led by Michael Edwards and Mrs. John Herrick. This march was one of the biggest hits of the evening with about four hundred in line. The John C. Smith Varsity Orchestra furnished excellent music.

Much credit is in order for all those who have made this dance a success. Thanks is extended to all who have assisted. John Rice was the general chairman in charge of the dance. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs John Herrick.

ARREST FOLLOWS DEATH IN AUTO MISHAP

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Syracuse, N. Y., April 17 Order for the arrest of Joseph W. Grace, former wealthy Randolph, N. Y., contractor, now foreman of the Shepherd Construction Company, on a charge of second degree manslaughter for the death of Mrs Mary Guilfoyle, was ordered today by Assistant District Attorney Clarence Unkles

Mrs Guilfoyle was killed when Grace's car left the Messina Springs road and crashed into a tree early on the morning of March 15, after a dinner party at a road side policeman's cafe and a raid on the outside.

Weird Suicide

ROBERT R. PRESTON

Gravely ill with diabetes, Robert R. Preston, twenty-one, son of a wealthy manufacturer of Oak Park, Ill., and a student in Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., tied two weights about his neck, poised on the end of a wharf and shot himself in the brain, his body falling into the waters of Lake Michigan. On his body were found diaries and notebooks, which told of his decision to have a few months' fling and then kill himself, rather than fight the lifelong battle against the dread disease.

Term Used by Builders

"Pise" is the material and the process of using earth of a clayey consistency for building by stamping it hard in place to drive out the moisture. Any soil that is found to pack in the hand may be used. Where the soil has much clay in it, this construction is capable of enduring many years. It is sometimes called adobe. The material differs from crude or unburned brick in being made up in the mass instead of being shaped in blocks for building.

White and Yellow Races at War

Leader of English Labor Party Foresees Such War Soon On Purely Racial Lines—Problem of Asiatic Immigration Must Be Met.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 17.—"The most dangerous of all the aspects of the immigration problem is the possibility of a conflict between the white and the yellow races on pure racial lines."

J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labor party and former Labor Premier, makes this statement in attacking the British policy which he declares is fostering racial differences and striving to solve these differences by military preparations.

The construction of a great naval base at Singapore, according to MacDonald, is merely a military move by the British government toward "military solution of this problem."

Weaken Empire.

"When we consider what is the effect of Singapore upon the Empire as a whole, I think the conclusion that we come to is that it is going to weaken the Empire because it will increase war-making impulses in the world," MacDonald said.

"Proponents of the Singapore base have said, quite bluntly, that Singapore is necessary as a naval base in order to maintain a white Australian policy. What does that mean? It means that they anticipate that because Australia will undoubtedly persist in its opposition to receiving Japanese immigrants, that political and racial policy will inevitably result in a military conflict between Australia and Japan.

"If that be so, it is obvious that his cause of a quarrel between Australia and Japan, and the preparations made to carry it to a successful conclusion, so far from increasing the security of the Empire is sooner or later going to be involved in a war.

Racial War.

"The problem of the immigration of Asiatics into territories governed by whites, if allowed to be met, and to be foreshadowed, by preparations, such as are suggested at Singapore, is going to impose inevitably an all-round challenge by certain races against certain other races. It is one of those beginnings in racial psychology which cannot possibly be ended until there is an engagement all along the line—the white races and the yellow—the colored races, whatever the color may be. Surely it behooves every one of us who has been in office, every one who is in office, and every one who aspires to be in office, to use our brains and all the expediencies that we can devise to shunt that problem—just to push it over the plane of a military solution and get it on the plane of a judicial solution in some shape or form."

MacDonald ventured the opinion that Japan's reply to the Singapore base would not be naval activity, but he called attention to the new international diplomatic policy which seems to be in formulation in the East.

Japan, Russia and China, and the formulation of a solid international policy between these countries, may be the reply to Singapore, MacDonald predicted.

Correct Count on Auto Deaths

Method of Getting Data on Auto Fatalities Changed—Census Bureau Acts to Differentiate Between Victims in City and Those Brought from Outside.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17.—According to reports received by Secretay of Commerce Hoover as Chairman of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, a number of cities have objected to the comparative fatality statistics presented by the Bureau of Census to the Conference. These objections are due to the fact that the figures credit to the cities the total number of deaths occurring within their limits which are the results of street and highway accidents but do not differentiate between deaths resulting from accidents which occurred within the corporate limits and deaths which resulted from accidents occurring outside the city limits.

These cities feel that traffic conditions on their streets should not be held responsible for the death of a victim of an accident occurring outside the city who has been brought into the city for hospital treatment or some other purpose.

Recognizing the justice of these complaints, the Bureau of the Census some months ago began the preparation of a plan for dividing these two classes of fatalities in their records. It is now proposed that in the reports received from state and local registrars in the registration area they shall show not only the cause of death from automobiles but the place where the accident occurred. This will enable the bureau in tabulating these fatalities to charge the death to the location where the accident actually occurred and not to the community where the victim died.

A circular letter describing this situation and requesting cooperation has been sent to the registrars of all states. Thirty states including Hawaii, have agreed to obtain the necessary data for the bureau. The local registrars have already been circularized in three states and will be circularized in eleven additional states in the immediate future. Eighteen states including Hawaii, have agreed to obtain data without circularization by the Bureau of the Census.

There are seven states within the registration area which have not as yet pledged full cooperation with the bureau.

Censor Board For Legislators

Woman Lawmaker Passes Over Prevailing Demands for Censorship In Favor of Plan to Determine Whether States Are Properly Governed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, April 17.—Mrs. J. Paul Goode, one of the four women members of the Illinois State Legislature approves of the censor idea.

In a speech before the legislative round table of the City Club here, she passed over the ideas of chaperons for the silver screen, literature, drama and the Eighteenth Amendment and proposed having a Board of Censors to control the acts of the State Legislature.

"Once, when there was danger of war between the States of Connecticut and Pennsylvania because of some particularly reprehensible work ordered done by the Pennsylvania Legislature, the danger was averted by a singular feature of the Pennsylvania Constitution," she said. "In order to hold the Legislature in check, Pennsylvania had a Board of Censors meet every seven years to inquire whether the state had been governed properly in the interval. I would be willing that the City Club should constitute such a Council of Censors over the State of Illinois."

In addition to proposing this innovation, Mrs. Goode explained what she calls the "sweetening system of the legislative body."

"I have come to believe that such time-killers as the technicalities and red tape of the government machinery involve are very essential," she said. "Friction and personal ill will could very quickly disrupt the whole plant if these sweetening processes were used."

Mrs. Goode complimented the legislators on their "generosity and consideration" to its women members. "We must have been very trying at times," she said.

FIRE PREVENTION.
Question—When a frame building burns down, what is left? Answer—The chimney alone, because it is built of brick. Chimneys are built of brick because they are fireproof. Why not construct the whole building of brick, that is Real Fire Prevention. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure When you build, use brick exclusively There may be a slight increase in first cost, but always a large saving in maintenance. Building brick and sand. THE MAN WHO HAS BRAINS AND EVERYTHING

¶He is about to purchase an automobile.

¶He does not feel that he should spend the amount of money necessary to buy a new car.

¶But he does not wish to buy a Used Car because his friends say he is only buying somebody else's trouble.

¶And then he learns about the Kingston Dealers Used Car Exchange.

¶He learns that although he does not know automobiles very well himself he is perfectly safe in buying one of these rebuilt cars, because of this guarantee.

¶He learns that the battery is unconditionally guaranteed for six months.

¶He finds the yearly model and price plainly stated on the windshield.

¶He learns on what easy terms Exchange cars can be bought.
